	OTP-AM	H-496 H-569 MELENDY

SUMMARY

This bill implements recommendations in the master plan of the Juvenile Corrections Planning Commission as put forth in its final report. It establishes the Bureau of Juvenile Corrections within the Department of Corrections, in order to provide juvenile corrections with a distinct identity for purposes of policy development, budgeting and management.

The bureau's immediate function will be to develop a plan by January 1, 1991. The plan will provide for the full implementation of a comprehensive systems of service by January 1, 2000. This delay allows adequate time for the planning and appropriations process.

When implemented in 1991, the Division of Probation and Parole will supervise adults only.

The committee amendment makes it clear that the Commissioner of Corrections has the authority to establish the Bureau of Juvenile Corrections this year. The Division of Probation and Parole is eliminated in 1991. The committee amendment also adds an appropriations section giving the department funds and two positions this biennium to cover the department's planning effort.

The House Amendment makes technical changes in the effective date language.
