programs. The bill establishes a new "Maine State Cultural Affairs Council" and transfers to the Council all oversight responsibility for the State's four cultural service agencies: the Maine Historic Preservation Commission; the Maine Arts Commission; the Maine Museum Commission; and the Maine Library Commission. Administrative responsibility for those agencies previously fell within the Department of Education and Cultural Services. The bill also changes the name of the Department of Education and Cultural Services to the Department of Education.

Committee Amendment "A" (S-546) to LD 2254 places the library media responsibilities under the Commissioner of Education and requires that the Governor appoint the chair of the Maine Cultural Affairs Council from among the members of the four commissions.

SUMMARY

LD 2277 requires that the Bureau of Public Improvements adopt rules governing the acquisition of goods and services by the State through the competitive bidding process and the appeals procedure for aggrieved persons. The bill establishes standards governing the appeals procedure, including the right of an aggrieved person to request a stay of a contract award decision and to request an appeals hearing. Rules governing competitive bidding and the appeals procedure must be adopted by January 1, 1990.

House amendment "A" (S-571) to LD 2277 clarified the intent of the bill in several areas and changed the Appeals Board appointing authority from the State Controller to the Commissioner of Finance.

Senate Amendment "A" (S-576) to LD 2277 was a technical amendment offered by the Committee on Bills in the Second Reading which inserted 2 subsections that were inadvertently omitted from the bill.
