AMENDMENTS ADOPTED

SUMMARY

This bill established presumptive blood-alcohol levels of intoxication and nonintoxication for workers' compensation purposes and limited the presumption to intoxication. It allowed other evidence of intoxication or nonintoxication and prohibited intoxication as a defense for the employer if the employer knew that the employee was in the habit of being intoxicated on duty. There was a presumption that the death or injury did not result from the employee's intoxication while on duty when the injury results in the death of the employee or when the employee is physically or mentally unable to testify.
