H-401

SUMMARY

This bill requires Maine to hold a presidential preference primary election to determine voter support for potential presidential nominees. The bill requires the primary to be held on the same day as the New Hampshire primary, if there is a primary, to facilitate a New England regional primary.

The bill permits state committees of political parties to call caucuses to select delegates to a national convention for candidates who achieve the required percentage of votes in the primary election; if the parties do not have caucuses, the candidates must submit a list of delegates to the Secretary of State. The bill also requires the Secretary of State to report to the Legislature in December of any year in which the national convention refuses to seat Maine delegates as a result of a defect in this method, and requires the Secretary of State to propose a remedy to any defect identified.

The bill also makes the Maine Revised Statutes, Title 21-A, chapter 5, subchapter V effective July 1, 1995 so that the primary will first be required for the 1996 presidential election.

Committee Amendment "A" (H-401) makes the following changes to the original bill:

1. Makes it optional instead of mandatory for political parties to hold presidential preference primaries;
2. Requires a candidate for president to file with the Secretary of State a petition with at least 4,000 and no more than 6,000 voters' signatures or to pay a $2,500 filing fee to the Secretary of State, in order for that candidate to be placed on the ballot;
3. Removes the condition that a candidate who does not receive at least 5% of the total votes cast in a primary election receives no delegates;
4. Makes a clarification that a voter may vote for only one person on the presidential preference primary ballot; and
5. Adds a fiscal note.
