SUMMARY

This bill would have required the State Board of Education to adopt certification requirements for speech and language clinicians that include a master's degree or its equivalent in speech pathology or a master's degree or its equivalent in a related area if those requirements meet standards established by federal law. The bill would have required the state board to establish rules that give speech and language clinicians with valid certificates issued prior to September 30, 1993, until July 1, 2015 to meet new certification requirements.

This bill would also have required the Commissioner of Education to offer, annually, 4 to 6 courses designed to help speech and language clinicians with valid certificates issued prior to September 30, 1993 meet new certification requirements and required the department to review and accept, at no cost, all course work that meets certification requirements submitted by those certificate holders.

Under an agreement worked out by the Joint Standing Committee on Education, the Maine Department of Education, the Maine State Board of Education and the U.S. Department of Education, the date certain for retraining speech clinicians is the first renewal of the professional certificate after July 1, 2002.
