This bill requires an employer to pay each employee a minimum of one hour of paid sick leave for every 30 hours worked by the employee. An employer is not required to provide to an employee paid sick leave in excess of 72 hours or 9 days annually. Paid sick leave may be used by an employee during an absence from employment due to the illness of the employee or the illness of an immediate family member.

Committee Amendment "A" (H-636)

This amendment, which is the majority report of the Joint Standing Committee on Labor, reduces the amount of paid sick leave required to be provided by employers. Under the bill, an employer is not required to provide an employee more than 9 days of sick leave annually. The amendment reduces the amount an employer is required to provide an employee from 9 days to 5 days of sick leave annually. The amendment also reduces from 5 to 3 the number of consecutive days of sick leave after which an employer may require verification of illness from an employee.

This bill changes independent medical examiner eligibility criteria which currently provide that a physician is ineligible where any Title 39-A, section 207 examination has been performed during the previous 52 weeks. Under the bill, a physician is not ineligible unless the physician has examined: the employee; or ten or more employees in accordance with section 207; or ten or more employees referred to the physician directly or indirectly by counsel for the employee during the previous 52 weeks.

The bill also provides that the Workers' Compensation Board's determination of an independent medical examiner's eligibility may not be raised as an issue in the dispute resolution process for the claim of an employee and that such Board determinations constitute final agency action. Finally, the bill requires that the deposition of an independent medical examiner may take place only in accordance with section 309, subsection 3, and that the subject matter of the deposition must be confined to the claim of the employee and the medical questions arising from that claim.
